Exaggerated.

ST. PETERBRURG, June 30-4:40 P. M.—
An official dispatch received from Lieutenant-General Stoessell, the gommander of the Russian military forces at Port Arthur, says that the squadron of Rear Admiral Withort re-entered that port after repuising five torpedo boat attacks. It contains no further details, so far as can be asceptained. It does not mention any damage to the Russian ships.

As no injury to the vessels of the Russian squadron was mentioned the belief of the authorities is greatly strengthened that Admiral Togo's report was very much exaggerated. While offering no specific ground for this opinion the admirally believes that a fight occurred on Saturday, General Stoessell's dispatch is addressed to Lieutenant-General Zelinsky, General Kuropatkin's chief-of-staff, and its dated June 24th.

SEOUL, KOREA, Sine-30.—(Evening).—
Reports received here of the appearance of the Russian Vladivostok squadron off Gen San, on the east coast of Korea, say the warships were first seen & 5:30 o'clock in the morning. Four torped boats entered the harbor and sank a small steamer and a junk while the cruisers remained outside and shelled the Japanese barracks on the shore. At the end of half an hour the Russians withdrew in the midst of a downpour of rain, which prevented the lookouts from noting what direction they took. The damage inflicted by the Russian fire was slight, inflicted by the Russian fire was slight, and no casualties have been reported. Further news, however, is expected when the telegraph wire between Scoul and Gen San, which was broken by the storm, is restored.

NEW CHWANG, June 30.—The Russian torpedo boat destroyer Lieutenant Burukoff arrived here from Port Arthur yesterday evening and berthed alongside the gumboat Sevitch. The river bank was soon crowded with excited natives, who were told by the Russians that the Japanese fleet had been completely destroyed. The officers of the Lieutenant Burukoff tell several stories. One is that Admiral Togo's report of the fighting was exaggerated, and that the Russians have made two cruises in the Guif of Pechi-Li in five days. Another story is that the Port Arthur fleet has joined the Vladivostok squadron.

The correspondent of the Associated Press sent a messenger who speaks Russian to the side of the destroyer, but the Russian sailors would not talk except to say that they left Port Arthur Tuesday night. Every such of the boat was crowded with men. She had the appearance of having been in a general engagement, her low gun havy re been shot away, and it looked as if she and rescued many men.

TOBACCO MEN ARE ACTIVE

Mr. Carrington, of This City, Sees Secretary Hay and Sir Hugh Reid.

(From Our Regular Correspondent.) WASHINGTON, D. C., June 30.—Representative Lamb, of the Third District, is in the city to-day in the interest of the tobacco people of his district, He was accompanied by Mr. T. M. Carrington, Association of the United States, and Mr. T. N. Williams, of Danville, one of the leading tobacco men of that city. Captain Lamb took the gentlemen to see Secretary John Hay, whose good offices they wished to secure in an effort they are making to prevent the British government putting a tax of six cents a pound on strips.

Take It Up in Cabinet.

Take It Up in Cabinet.

The delegation was assured by the Secretary of State that he would be glad to do all in his power to induce the British government to favor the shippers of American leaf, and that the matter would be brought up at a meeting of the Cabinet to-morrow. If it is decided that it would be proper for this government to take any action, the consul-general at London, and possibly the American minister, will be instructed to make efforts to induce the British government to forego the action proposed by the Chancellor of the Exchequer.

Mr. Carrington presented the case to Secretary Hay, briefly but fully. The proposed duty, already explained in this paper, is now being considered by the Finance Committee for adoption or revision. This committee is receiving protests from the tobacco merchants and manufacturers of Great Britain regarding the proposed duty and from Mr. Carrington, as the representative of the Association, which embraces the shippers of leaf from this country. After Captain Lamb and Mr. Carrington and Mr. Williams had seen Secretary Hay, they went over to the Department of Agriculture and solicited the aid of Secretary Wilson in their behalf. The Secretary which Secretary Hay is expected to make at the Cabinet meeting, to have the President authorize our minister and consulgeneral take steps to relieve the dealers in strips.

Meet Sir Hugh Reid.

Meet Sir Hugh Reid. Mr. Carrington also met at the Department of Agriculture, Sir Hugh Gilson Reid, the celebrated English journalist, who had called to see Secretary Wilson. Sir Hugh was deeply interested in the matter of the proposed duty on strips and expressed his opposition to the scheme. He is intimately acquainted with Mr. Loson Chemberhim, who is ondervscheme. He is mitimately acquianted with Mr, Joseph Chamberlain, who is endeav-oring to have England adopt a protec-tive tariff policy, but he himself is op-posed to Mr. Chamberlain's views, and promised Mr. Carrington that when he promised Mr. Carrington that when he returned to England, he would endeavor to have the press of the country take up the cudgels against the proposition to tax tobacco imports.

Yale won the freshmen race by half a scoond, or a quarter of a boat's length. For the two miles of this race the two shells zigzagged, and neither crow ever had a lead of more than a length. It was one of the most remarkable boat races in the history of intercollegiate rowing.

Lack of System.

The postponement of the 'varsity races brought forth much criticism. Through-ut the entire day there seemed to be a fifty minutes by one mishap after another, and by the time it was finished it was found impossible to put on the 'varsity four-oared race, since the 'varsity eight-oared race was scheduled for 12:30 o'clock. The race for the big eights could have been rowed at that hour had the officials of the day been prompt, but there was a long delay.

As the afternoon wore on the southeast wind, which had been blowing all day, became stiffer and stiffer, until it was absolutely impossible for any crew to row.

In the next half mile the struggle was superb. Each crew raised its stroke one point. At the mile and a half flag the two boats were exactly even, flose for nose. The time for each crew for the mile and a half was seven minutes and fifty seconds. Just as the last half mile flag was passed Yale began the spurt that won the race. She jumped her stroke up to thirty-six, and began to pull ahead hach by inch. Harvard did not make her effort until an eighth of a mile from the finish. Then her stroke went to thirty-eight, But it was too late. Yale was leading by the length of her canvas how as the flags dipped at the finish. Yale had won by just half a second. The promise made by Bryan is regarded as so important that the Cleveland Democrats have gone ahead with greater vigor in their plans in his behalf than ever before, and are extremely hopeful that their movement to nominate Cleveland will not miscarry. In fact, the plans are represented as being in such shape that the backers of the Princeton man are looking around for a running mate, and they have about made up their mind that he should be Marshall Field, of Chicago. If Field should decline to become a candidate, the second place on the ticket will be offered to John R. McLean. However, it is confidently expected that Field will agree to become the vice-presidential neminee. As for McLean, he does not know whether some of the Tom Johnson Democrats would give him the hearty and loyal support that would be necessary to help the ticket in Ohio. But in Illinois, there is Democratic hope, and Marshall Field is the man who must be nominated, it is argued, in order for the Democrats to attain success next fall.

be the Democratic nomines for President?"

"That is a questlow which, for reasons of propriety, I prefer not to answer."

"If Mr. Cleveland should be nominated, would you support him?"

Mr. Hearst paused for a moment, frowned faintly and then smiled.

"Well." he drawled, "I have supported Mr. Cleveland three times for the Presidency, and I am inclined to think that that is enough. I shall, however, abide by the decision of the convention, whoever the notaines may be. At the same time, I repeat that I have supported Mr. Cleveland three times and—I think that that is—is—enough." But why discuss Cleveland as a serious possibility? He is merely brought forward by shrewd politicians in the hope of forcing the radicals into a compromise on some reorganizer less objectionable."
